Lingo’s early programme: archive reference

Historical period: 2014

Archive note written for the new Lingo edition. This document is a replacement reference, not a reproduction of the original festival programme.

An October 2014 Dublin Event Guide listing linked this exact programme filename while describing the Lingo spoken-word festival taking place that weekend. This contemporary link is the basis for the 2014 period used in the archive.

The listing describes a programme across Dublin locations, with both ticketed and free events. The surviving link establishes the subject of the document; it is not enough to reconstruct every performance, venue, time or price in the original PDF.

The Internet Archive availability service identifies a capture of the original file on 8 January 2015. An archive capture date records when a file was preserved, and need not be the date the programme was first published.

This document is a new archive reference, not a reproduction of that programme. Readers interested in the following festival edition can consult the historical Poetry Ireland programme reference, which is a separate document for a different year.

Dublin Event Guide: contemporary October 2014 listing

https://www.dublineventguide.com/blog/index.php/2014/10/page/2/

2015 Lingo programme: historical Poetry Ireland address (currently unavailable)

https://www.poetryireland.ie/content/events/LINGO-Programme-2015.pdf

Internet Archive capture identified by its availability service

https://web.archive.org/web/20150108161146/http://www.lingofestival.com/pdf/LINGOfestival_FullProg.pdf